Mrs. J. D. Tilson, of Wildersville, who has been visiting relatives in the Clarksburg community, was in Huntingdon last Monday.

Mrs. W. L. Noel and daughter, Miss Marjorie, left last Monday morning for Valdosta, Ga., to visit Prince Noel. They will be gone about two weeks.

Misses Ada and Willowdene Duncan, daughters of Dr. L. L.

Duncan, of Hollow Rock, were here last Tuesday trading with our merchants.

Mrs. J. B. Gilbert is in Nashville this week attending an executive meeting of the state officers of the W. C. T. U. She also attended the Sociological Congress.

Those who attended the First Sunday in May services found plenty of mud and bad roads. The crowds were not so large on account of road conditions.

Judge Wilson Enochis was able to drive down in town last Tuesday and spend a few minutes in his office. He is still quite weak, but improving nicely. His daughter is also able to be out.

W. F. Jones and wife and Mrs. Geo. T. McCall and son, William, spent last Sunday with relatives and friends in Paris. They had a pleasant day and enjoyed the trip very much.

Mrs. Francis Kellogg, who is teaching at McMoresville, was called home Saturday to the bedside of her little son, Willie, who is quite sick with pneumonia. Greenfield Times.

Basil B. Fowler, who now holds the position of manager of the Press Job Printing Co., Fort Myers, Fla., is in Huntingdon visiting home-folks and friends. Mr. Fowler seems to be in fine health and prospering.

The pupils of Miss Lelia M. McKinney, expression teacher in the Sharon High School, gave a recital on Wednesday night of this week, which was very much enjoyed by all who attended. Quite a lengthy program was rendered. Music was furnished by the Symphony Orchestra of that place. Greenfield Times.

Carpenters have commenced laying the foundation to John R. Carter's new home on East Paris street. The work will be pushed until two residences are completed. These are to be nice buildings and will add greatly to the appearance of that street.

ENDORSED AT HOME

Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Huntingdon Citizen.

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Huntingdon adds one more to the many cases of home endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

L. Vawter, Paris St., Huntingdon, Tenn., says: "I had backache most of the time and my kidneys caused me a great deal of trouble. Soon after I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Patrick Drug Co., I was relieved and I have had no trouble from my back or kidneys since. I feel justified in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills in return for what they have done for me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Westport Items.

Elmer Utley and wife are at Lexington where Mr. Utley is assisting in the railroad office.

Miss Clara Steel, of the Clarksburg community, after spending several days here visiting, returned to her home last Friday.

Henry McCall and Miss Lillian Denver, of Lexington, were recent visitors of Miss Jessie McCall at the home of J. T. Moore.

Mrs. Jas. H. McDonald, of Memphis, and Miss Ala Mai McCall, of Lexington visited Miss Jessie McCall last week.

J. H. McCall spends most of his time at Mansfield where he runs a stove factory. We understand he is cutting quite a lot of staves and is doing well.

John Evans, quite an aged citizen of this community, is sick and thought to be in a very critical condition. He is one of the oldest citizens in this part of the county.

The Farmers Supply Company have in their possession an alligator, recently shipped them from some friend in Hot Springs, Ark., that is a source of much interest and amusement to the people of this community. The alligator is about eighteen inches long.

An infant of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Utley died Thursday of last week of whooping cough. The burial occurred Friday at the Blair graveyard near Clarksburg. The child had been sick several days. Mr. Utley, who was near Memphis, at Allon, working as telegraph operator, was called home on account of the fatal sickness of his child.

W. J. Hills, superintendent of the N. C. & St. L. railroad, was in Westport a few days ago looking after the interest of his road at this place. He stated while here that he would soon make a park between the building of the Farmers Supply Company and the railroad. There is room there for quite a nice little park and it is the policy of this road to build parks near their depots wherever it is convenient to do so.

A Texas Wonder.

If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. One small bottle is two months' treatment and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Send for Tennessee testimonials, Dr. E. W. Hall, 2926 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo. Sold by all druggists.

Ten Things to Do.

1. Finish the planting of cotton and corn. Be sure to have a good seed-bed, even if it delays the time of planting a day or two.
2. Keep the cultivators going. Stay ahead of the grass by using harrows and weaders. Keep land level and surface thoroughly fined.
3. See that the boys and girls have a share in the farm work. If the boys have not a corn or cotton acre, give them a pig or calf. Interest the girls in tomato growing or poultry raising.
4. Make sure of a good hay crop. Plant cow peas, soy beans and other feed crops. Plant corn for silage the last of the month. Build a silo if you have none.
5. Make sure now of plenty of pork for next winter. Put the hogs in the pasture lots. See that they have fresh water and shade. Use spray or dipping vat to kill the lice.
6. Plant sweet potatoes, peanuts, popcorn. Keep the garden going; where the early crops come off plant others for later use.
7. Look closely after the health of the chickens. Use disinfectants and whitewash freely. Market the early cockrels as soon as large enough.
8. Keep on spraying. Use Bordeaux and Paris green on apple trees and Irish potatoes, Bordeaux on grapes and tomatoes, self-boiled lime-sulphur to prevent peach rot.
9. Fix up the kitchen for hot weather. See that the screens are in good working order. Make or buy a fireless cooker or get an oil stove. Arrange to keep milk and butter cool.
10. Keep the grounds about the house in order. Use the lawnmower. Keep chickens and pigs out of the yard. Screen in one of the porches for a resting place. Progressive Farmer.

Appreciation.

Mayor McCall received the following letter from Mayor Crump of Memphis:

James H. McCall, Mayor.

Dear Sir:—I wish to acknowledge receipt of your very kind favor of the 26th inst., advising that the ladies of your city had forwarded a shipment of clothing for the Arkansas refugees, now quartered at the Tri-State Fair Grounds here. I wish you would convey to them my personal thanks for the donation, and assure them that the clothing can be used to splendid advantage, since we have nearly two thousand people under our care at the refugees' camp.

I am sending the bill of lading which you enclose to Mr. J. P. Kanz, secretary of the Associated Charities, which organization has charge of the distribution of supplies to the refugees, with request that he acknowledge receipt when the goods arrive. Again thanking you, I am, Yours very truly, E. H. CRUMP, Mayor.

A DANGEROUS CLIMB

WILL GUARD "CITADEL" ROOSEVELT'S ITCH FOR POWER

REPUBLICAN BLUFF AT REDUCING TARIFF IS AMUSING.

People Indulge in False Hopes if They Imagine the Wool Manufacturers Are in Any Danger of That Sort.

Because the Republican members of the house ways and means committee have introduced a bill which purports to reduce the tariff on wool and wools, we are not necessarily to assume that the leopard has changed his spots.

The wool schedule has been denounced by President Taft on several occasions as absolutely indefensible. It is absolutely indefensible because its authors pretended to revise its tax rates downward, but in fact marked them up; because it taxes coarse and cheap goods much higher than fine and costly goods, and because it was notoriously written by agents of the wool growers of the west acting in collusion with the wool manufacturers of the east.

When this infamy was under way in 1909 Nelson W. Aldrich warned the standpatners of the senate that "the wool schedule is the very citadel of the protective system and to reduce that schedule is to destroy the whole system." The wool schedule is the citadel of the protective system because in that measure are centered and combined the selfish interests of agricultural states and the selfish interests of manufacturing states. It bribes the farmer to connive with the mill owner.

The reason why the protective system would be destroyed if this schedule were to be substantially reduced is found in the fact that any truly remedial legislation would be certain to cut off the plunder of the big shepherds of the west and in that case turn the farmers against the tariff generally. For many years it has been the votes of farmers rather than the votes of so-called protected labor that have perpetuated our tariffs of extortion.

These things being true, let no one take it for granted that there has been any change of heart on the part of the Republican members of the ways and means committee. It is against reason to suppose that any Republican tariff bill contemplates a reduction of taxation, no matter what its authors may say. It is flying in the face of all the probabilities to assume that a Republican tariff bill presented in a presidential year is intended to cut off one cent of plunder from the most unconscionable conspiracy in restraint of trade that ever has existed. It is the extreme of ignorance and gullibility to accept in good faith a pretense that is belied by the records of forty years.—St. Louis Republic.

More Binding.

Out upon such wild vagaries. The colonel is a good Republican, and the proof that he is going to abide by the verdict of the Chicago convention is furnished by himself.

Hasn't he said that he would accept that verdict?—New York Herald.

Sure. But has the colonel any objections to making an affidavit this time—as a mere formality, of course?

Typographical Error.

"We, the people," said T. R. Are there really two of him?—Detroit Free Press.

Worth Some Consideration.

There are at least two factions in Wall street, and George W. Perkins is a spokesman for one. Is he priming Mr. Roosevelt? If Mr. Roosevelt is nominated at Chicago will Mr. Perkins be the voice behind the candidate in the latter's deliverances about trusts? And if Mr. Roosevelt is returned to the White House will Mr. Perkins be the power behind the throne in shaping the trust recommendations to congress? The two men think alike on the subject.

Says "Let the People Rule," But He Seems to Assume That He Is the People.

"In our cities the misgovernment is due not to misdeeds of the rich, but to the low standard of honesty and morality among our citizens generally."

Theodore Roosevelt is the author of those words. They are to be found in his published volume entitled, "American Ideals."

But he wrote them before he was a candidate.

In the Columbus speech the colonel announced his belief in "pure democracy." In New York the other night the subject of his address was "The Right of the People to Rule." But it is apparent that in his heart of hearts he has a considerable number of strings tied to popular rule, for he was already on record, in the same printed volume, as preaching this doctrine:

"Governmental power should be concentrated in the hands of very few men, who would be so conspicuous that no citizen could help knowing all about them, and the election should not come too frequently."

That doesn't fit in very well with his Portland speech.

Colonel Roosevelt has little use for the Constitution if it stands in the way of his ideas of how things should be run. Even the Supreme court he contemptuously tramples on when its views do not coincide with his own. The trend of his mind is easy to follow: "Let the people rule. But I am the people."

As long as they follow him, well and good. Give him authority. After that, the fewer elections the better. Let him continue to manage.

There have been others besides Colonel Roosevelt who have believed that they ought to be given life power and a commission to regulate the universe, but as a rule they have been found inside the asylums.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Taxing Wealth.

What militant Democracy can accomplish is shown by the vote in the house of representatives on the bill taxing incomes of partnerships and individuals. Every Democrat recorded himself in its favor, and only forty-one Republicans, nearly all of them from the far east, ventured to vote against it.

Yet this measure was fought to the last by the principal leaders and newspapers of the Republican party. To judge by the expressions of the usual spokesmen for plutocracy and privilege, no Republican in good standing would favor it. When it came to the test, however, only 41 out of 162 stood fast.

This bill taxes property and substance, not need and use. It makes wealth pay, not poverty. It levies on abundance rather than on scarcity. Some day the principle which it embodies will prevail everywhere.

Very Sad.

Really, it is very saddening to note the conduct of the factions of the brethren toward each other.

The Roosevelt men charge the Taft supporters with "coercing" federal officers.

The Taft advocates retort with aspersions about a "slush fund" for the opposition.

If this sort of thing shall continue, the people will begin to believe both sides.

Protection Rottenness Shown.

As corporations control the vast majority of factories, the wage of $10 a week (considerably less than $2 a day) paid by the protected cotton industries, may be taken as the average. Workmen in trades that are not protected receive larger wages—carpenters, $3.50 a day; bricklayers, $4.80; hod carriers from $2.60 to $3, and stone masons, $4. Ten dollars a week is not a living wage for a man with family. Yet this is the average paid by the protected industries.
